Gorge Came Near Being Aeronauts Grave

HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

Capt. Mueller and Ohio Lads Were Near Death's Door

Anchor Caught in Engine and Balloonists Were Tumbled From the Basket.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Sept. 2.—"I am through with the game: I ever leave Columbus again it will be by some other agency than a balloon," said Perry Gregory, the 16 years old son of Charles E. Gregory, of No. 130 Bowen avenue, Chicago, vice president of the Chicago Aero club and treasurer of the Federation of Aero clubs, as he lay on a cot at the Memorial Hospital, nursing the injuries he received when the big balloon, Ville de Dieppe, made its disastrous landing at the northern limits of this city at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

His brother, Gerald Gregory, aged 18, had made flights before and took the accident stoically and merely as an incident of life.

Captain A. E. Mueller, who was in charge of the balloon, exhibited a sort of satisfaction in imparting the knowledge that the use of the anchor and drag rope, which caused all of the trouble, was not with his consent or advice.

All three of the occupants of the car were more or less injured in making the landing, and the balloon itself was partially wrecked.

Captain Mueller suffered a rib fracture and severe body bruises. Gerald Gregory was cut about the face and bruised about the body, and his brother, Perry, had his left ankle so badly twisted that it will be weeks before he can stand on it.

That the balloonists escaped with their lives is little short of miraculous. They came within an ace of being pitched head foremost into the rapids of the Niagara Gorge, and were finally dumped out of their car into the deep cut of the New York Central railroad at Devil's Hole.

The story of the trip was told by Captain Mueller as he lay on a couch in the Vogt farmhouse, whither he was carried by several men who saw the plight of the aeronauts and rendered first aid. Captain Mueller said:

"We left Columbus, O., at 8 o'clock Monday night on an endurance flight, our purpose being to demonstrate the good quality of the gas which several of the participants in the international race from Columbus had complained of as being inferior and not suitable for record work. Charles Gregory's two sons wanted to go along, so I took them. We ascended between 2,000 and 3,000 feet above the earth and waited for a favorable breeze.

"For the first few hours we were virtually becalmed, simply moving about in a large circle and always coming back to the starting point. Finally about midnight we struck a breeze that carried us out over Lake Erie, and from midnight to 6 o'clock in the morning we hovered over the lake, waiting for the desired current of air.

Finally we were wafted in this direction and sailed over a part of Canada and toward the Niagara Gorge.

The heat was intense and at 1 o'clock Perry Gregory began to grow ill. In an hour's time he had completely collapsed and we found it necessary to land for medical assistance.

"I did not want to use the anchor, but the boys insisted, and this is the result. It jerked along the surface of the ground, catching first against this and then that obstacle, and with each snap of the anchor we were tossed about violently in the car.

"Fences and telegraph wires were pulled down, and in one instance we lifted a whole section of plank sidewalk. Then we sailed across the Niagara Gorge, with the anchor rope dragging. The anchor caught on the top of the bluff on the American side, and for a moment it looked as if we would be dashed to destruction on the rocks below. The car tilted to a dangerous degree, but the anchor released again and we drifted on until the railroad cut was reached, where it again caught on a locomotive, which was motionless, and this time held. The car assumed an acute angle so suddenly that, despite our efforts to hold on and give a hand to Perry, we were precipitated into the cut and landed in a heap."

The balloon was shipped back to Columbus last night, and Captain Mueller and Perry Gregory will follow as soon as they are able to leave their cots.

The shooting of Charles Boyle Roberts of Baltimore by a masked man in Atlantic City while Roberts was riding in a wheel chair with Mrs. W. S. G. Williams still baffles the police.

of both cities. A statement made by Roberts, which is being kept secret, may go far toward clearing the mystery, however. This is the first portrait of Roberts published since the tragedy.

GREAT FIRE

IN THE SAN CERONIMO OIL FIELD IS AT LAST GOTTEN UNDER CONTROL.

Four Million Barrels of Oil Destroyed and Well Still Flows Two Thousand Barrels Daily.

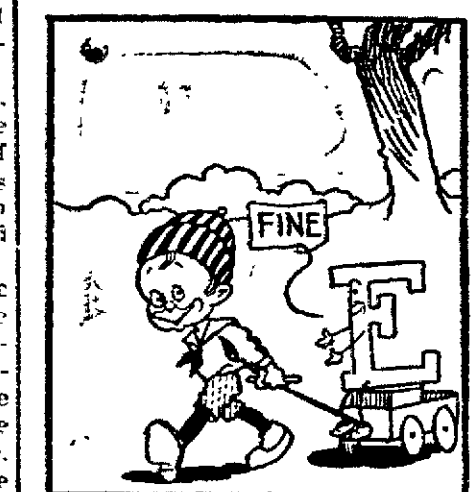

City of Mexico, Sept. 2.—After burning 59 days and destroying 4,000,000 barrels of oil, worth a dollar per barrel, the great fire in the San Ceronimo oil field today is reported extinguished.

Six great centrifugal pumps that extinguished the fire by throwing mud and gravel into the flaming crater, have been stopped and inventory begun of the loss. The oil is still flowing from the well in which the fire started at the rate of two thousand barrels a day.

INSURANCE FOR POOR AT COST

New York, Sept. 2.—Backed by $10,000,000 of Russell Sage's fortune, a new life insurance company will be formed for the purpose of selling insurance at or below cost to poor people. Mrs. Sage admitted today that the project is being considered.

DECLARES OHIO SENATOR

Should be no Encroachment by the Chief Executive

Senator Foraker Addresses Great Crowd of Vets at Unveiling of Monument.

Toledo, Sept. 2.—A large crowd was present at the unveiling of the soldiers' monument in memory of the troops who fell in defending Fort Meigs from the assaults of the British general, Proctor, and the Indians under Tecumseh. Senator Joseph B. Foraker was the orator of the day and his speech was frequently interrupted by applause.

"It would be difficult to exaggerate the greatness of our country or the happiness of our people, and it is only by some such occasion as this that the past is again brought vividly before us and we are reminded of the trials and tribulations that went before our triumphs.

"Fort Meigs has a special importance beyond that which attaches to Fort Recovery or Fort Defiance of Fort Wayne or any of the neighboring fortifications of that pioneer time, because it was the base of operations in a campaign of national importance, planned for the recapture of Detroit and the invasion of Canada.

"Each acquisition of territory that we have made excited serious apprehension that found expression in the debates in congress and elsewhere as to whether our institutions would stand the strain. It was gravely and seriously contended by some of the ablest statesmen of that time and later that we should not attempt to advance our territorial boundary beyond the crest of the Rocky mountains; that that was the natural terminus for us on the west, and that we were defying fate and inviting dismemberment and disaster to disregard what God had so plainly indicated.

"Apparently there are still among us some doubting Thomases, for there was special apprehension when the Spanish war acquisitions were made, but it has been found in every instance that our constitution fits its reform as aptly as though it had been made with special reference thereto.

"But greater than the expanse of our domain, greater than the multiplication of our wealth, greater than any power that has come to us greater than any glory we have achieved, greater than any of our physical accomplishments, has been the improvement of our people intellectually, morally and in all that makes for good citizenship.

"There never was a time when they stood in less need of statutory straight jackets or when they less deserved to be discredited in their own estimation and before the world, by official censure and public criticism.

"Practically all the greatest publicists agree that the most vital feature of the general plan of our government is found in the distribution of its powers among three separate, independent and co-ordinate departments.

"It is fundamental that neither shall encroach upon the other. The legislative shall not, without constitutional warrant, take from or add to the powers of the judiciary; nor shall the judiciary annul or embarrass the lawful enacted will of the legislative. Neither of these two departments has ever wilfully infringed upon or denied the powers of the other.

"But worse than legislative and judicial discord would be an invasion of either of the other departments by the executive.

"All the powers of that department are consolidated in a single individual. He is the commander-in-chief of the army and the navy. He has in his own hands all the tremendous power of public patronage.

"Under a bold, aggressive, unscrupulous and designing executive this power of appointment and these armies of appointees could be so exercised and directed as to destroy the importance and independence and impair the usefulness and efficiency of both the other departments.

William H. Taft left Middle Bass island, Lake Erie, today to attend the encampment of the Grand Army at Toledo. He was met at the station by a delegation of Ohio state officials and war veterans and during the day will deliver an address to the Grand Army. Mr. Taft will return to Middle Bass island later in the day and remain there throughout the week.

"Such an abuse of power would be a violation of the constitution which, if long acquiesced in, might eventually work its overthrow.

"Such practices are of such serious character that they are not likely often to occur, but nevertheless we should be ever watchful to rebuke them when they do occur, lest in them we find our undoing. Open and avowed enemies are not always the most dangerous. Too frequently subtle influences undermine and thwart human endeavor before they are recognized. This is particularly true in governmental experience.

"All the teachings of history proclaim that there is no safety except where there is eternal vigilance. If there should come necessity for changes in our organic law let us make them in accordance with its provisions, having the requisite patience and patriotism therefor, and ever remembering and believing that what Washington and his associates framed and Lincoln and his associates with the help of that grand old Union arm, perfected, is good enough for you and me and for all who are coming after us."

STORM COSTS MANY LIVES

ONE HUNDRED AND FORTY PERSONS ARE KNOWN TO HAVE PERISHED.

In Fierce Storm Which Swept English Channel—Hundreds of Vessels Go Down.

London, Sept. 2.—With still other casualties likely to be reported, 140 persons are already known to have lost their lives in the storm that swept the English channel since Monday night. Most of the deaths occurred in groups of two and three. Two hundred and eleven sailing vessels were lost in the storm and 14 large steamships are docked for repairs.

POPULARITY

OF THE MARATHON WINNER IN- DUCES HIM TO GO ON THE STAGE.

New York, Sept. 2.—John J. Hayes, the Marathon winner, has decided to take advantage of the wave of popularity which he is now floating and will appear next Monday night in a vaudeville sketch at Keith & Proctor's. He will appear in the running suit he wore in the famous Marathon race and the trophy which he won will be exhibited in the foyer of the theater.

GERMANY IS ACTIVE

Would Win the Favor of Mulai Hafid, the New Sultan

Ire of France and Spain Has Been Aroused and They Refuse Recognition of Mulai.

Washington, Sept. 2.—Count Von Hatzfeldt, charge d'affaires of the German embassy, called at the state department today to discuss the question of the recognition of Mulai Hafid as the Sultan of Morocco.

Paris, Sept. 2.—The action of France and Spain in refusing formal recognition of Mulai Hafid as the Sultan of Morocco is considered in diplomatic circles here today as a direct insult to Germany, for the latter's activity in urging the powers to recognize Mulai as the lawful successor to Abdul Aziz.

Germany's haste in sending Dr. Vassel, German consul to Tangier, to Fez, for the purpose, as France suspects, of having him first to win the favor of the new Sultan, has aroused the ire of both France and Spain, whose interests in Morocco are more vital than those of any other power.

TERRIFIC AVALANCHES

AUGMENTED BY FLOODS CAUSE GREAT LOSS OF LIFE NEAR SWISS FRONTIERS.

Number of Parties Climbing the Alps Are Reported Missing—Search- ing Parties Held Back.

Geneva, Sept. 2.—A heavy loss of life and the destruction of several villages is reported today from the Swiss Tyrolean frontiers, where an unexpected thaw precipitated terrific avalanches and floods. Between 30 and 40 persons are known to have been killed and a number of parties that were climbing the Alps are missing.

Several villages are either inundated by floods or buried under fearful avalanches. Searching parties are held back by the dangerous condition of mountain passes and it will be several days before the full extent of the damage can be learned.

BIG PARADE

WAS HELD BY OLD VETERANS AT ENCAMPMENT OF THE GRAND ARMY OF REPUBLIC.

Taft, Foraker and Dick Will Meet This Afternoon on Stage of the Lyceum Theater.

Toledo, Sept. 2.—The veterans parade of the 42nd encampment of the Grand Army moved this morning. It is estimated that 30,000 veterans were in line. A hundred and fifty thousand visitors are in the city.

Judge Taft and party from Middle Bass reviewed the parade. Senators Foraker and Dick are here and the three will meet on the Lyceum stage this afternoon in a public reception.

TRAIN RUNS DOWN WORKMEN

Chicago, Sept. 2.—One man was instantly killed, two fatally and six seriously injured this morning, when a Northwestern train ran down a gang of workmen employed in track work on the north side. Three trains approached at the same time. The men became confused and ran directly into the train.

SENATOR SCOTT STARTS FIGHT

AND GETS BADLY LICKED BY A PROMINENT POLITICIAN OF WHEELING.

He Now Has a Badly Bumped Countenance as the Result of Calling Man a Liar.

Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 2.—United States Senator Nathan Bay Scott engaged in a sensational fist encounter with ex-State Senator S. G. Smith, a prominent local lawyer and politician in the Dollar Savings Trust Co. building in the heart of the city yesterday afternoon and as a result he is carrying a score or more of serious and painful bruises that will remain on his countenance for weeks.

Thirty-six blows, by actual count, were struck before Cashier L. F. Stifel of the bank, succeeded in separating the combatants. Thirty were credited to Mr. Smith, who sustained only a few slight scratches from the six blows of the senator.

The fight was the result of a statement made by Mr. Smith in an address at Parkersburg about a month ago in which he said the United States senatorship in West Virginia had been bought at public auction for many years. The senator was in the bank when Mr. Smith entered yesterday afternoon. Mr. Smith spoke to him and in reply the senator demanded to know why he had said that.

"United States senators had been bought for years," Mr. Smith replied. "I didn't say United States senators from West Virginia had been bought. I said the senatorship had been purchased at public auction."

"You're a liar," holly retorted the senator, as he struck at Smith. Smith stepped back from the senator, who followed up the attack with another blow. To defend himself Smith began striking the senator, who is considerably the heavier man, although 15 years his junior. By the time they were parted Senator Scott was in street parlance "all in."

For years the two have not been the best of friends and it is understood that Scott's feelings had become more embittered because Smith has been an adherent of the Schererville ticket in this state while Scott openly declared himself along with Senator Elkins for Swisher for governor. Although politically at daggers points to the casual onlookers they were friends and Senator Scott's outburst of anger was said to have been unjustified.

TWO HUNDRED WERE RESCUED

London, Sept. 2.—Two hundred franc passengers, mostly women and children, were rescued yesterday in life boats from the excursion steamship, Queen, which became disabled off Selsey in a terrific storm which swept the English channel. When the rescuers reached the Queen the distracted passengers were praying and moaning with fear. Four passengers were drowned in a scramble for the life boats.

COMMON PLEAS PETIT JURORS HOLD PICNIC

Delightful Time Had by Jurors of the September Term—Effect Permanent Organization.

The Common Pleas Court petit jurors for the September term, 1907, held their first annual picnic at Idlewild park yesterday and a most enjoyable time was had by all present.

While quite a number of the members of the jury were absent, the attendance was quite satisfactory for the first meeting considering that several were unavoidably prevented from being present.

Several members were accompanied by their wives and friends, and the ladies were to be congratulated upon the most excellent and appetizing lunch, which was spread upon the long tables, filling it to overflowing with good things to eat. The lunch hour proved one of the special features.

Lunch being over, S. P. Moore of Liberty township, was made temporary chairman, and a permanent organization was at once effected with the following officers for the ensuing year: President, S. P. Moore; vice president, Frank Hunter, of Franklin township; secretary, Deputy County Clerk Ed. M. Larson.

After the business session most excellent and interesting talks were made by S. P. Moore, Charles Stoolfire, Mrs. Charles Stoolfire, James Oldaker, Mrs. G. F. Griffith and Ed. M. Larson, who paid a high tribute to the deceased member, A. T. Hull, and spoke at length on the benefits of like social gatherings, and the value of time and success in life.

After taking a long ride on the merry-go-round, the meeting adjourned to meet again on the first Tuesday in September, 1909.

MOTORMAN RESTING VERY COMFORTABLY

An Advocate reporter called at the home of Mr. Charles Wyant, the motorman who was so seriously injured in the wreck at Hibernia, on the Newark-Columbus division of the Ohio Electric railway, last Saturday night. He found Mr. Wyant comfortably ensconced in an easy chair and making the best of the situation. He is getting along finely and is rapidly recovering from his injuries.

When the reporter called, Mr. Wyant was in a very cheerful frame of mind, and when asked to talk about the accident told the following story:

"I left Columbus Saturday evening about 7:25 o'clock, about 25 minutes late, and upon arriving at Doney's, six miles east of Newark, received orders to meet No. 27 at Hibernia, instead of at Doney's, the regular meeting place. I was running as second 32 from Columbus to Newark. The first section was in the clear at Hibernia and the conductor had the switch open. As I reached a point about 60 feet from the switch, I supposed from the reflection of the headlights that the west bound train was on the main track waiting for me to take the siding. The next thing I saw was the west bound car pass over the frog and I knew there was going to be trouble. I called to the passengers in the baggage department of my car that we were going to be hit and for them to jump. I then set the brake and started to jump, but was prevented from doing so by the door closing. The next thing I knew was when they were digging me out of the wreck and carrying me in to nearby house. That is all I can remember."

Mr. Wyant is resting very comfortably and is rejoicing over the fact that the injuries received by him are no worse. He is very grateful to the city and interurban employees of the road for beautiful bouquets of flowers and also to his friends and neighbors for their floral offerings.

RAILWAY AFFAIRS

Railroad Notes.

The B. & O. shops reduced the working force Monday about 80 and put the remainder on eight hours per day and four days per week. This is certainly evidence of Republican prosperity.

"Baldy" Johnson, night fireman on yard engine 500 is taking a few days off duty.

B. & O. train 107 had two engines and an extra number of coaches to handle the people for Columbus today.

Engineer William Haver who has been seriously ill at his home in Cambridge, is reported as improving.

John Williams, an engineer employed by the B. & O. was taken suddenly ill at the depot Sunday when his engine was ready to take his train. No. 8, out on his run. Another engineer was called. The departure of the train was delayed 30 minutes.

Pan Handle 33 was run in two sections on account of extra business west.

State fair travel over the B. & O. is reported as being very good today. Several hundred persons from this city went over to Columbus Wednesday morning.

ESTABLISHED 1876.

Bentley's White Lily Catarrh Cure has become the leader. It's a necessity now in thousands of homes because it is helpful, wholesome and clean. A scientific remedy. Strongly antiseptic and disinfectant, which renders it highly sanitary and propylactic and contains nothing in the least harmful. No opiates, cocaine or mercury. After one trial it will make friends with you in spite of yourself. A prompt relief for sore throat, cough and colds. Ask your druggist. 25c.

A Quicker Way To Wash Clothes,

An easier way, a better way—the P. & G. Naphtha Soap way.

P. & G. Naphtha Soap is used by women who have learned, by actual experience, that there is a better way, an easier way, a quicker way to wash clothes than the old-fashioned, work-all-day-in-a-hot-room way.

These women no longer boil their clothes.

They no longer rub the life out of them on a wash-board.

They no longer stand for hours over tubs of hot water, the steam of which makes everything in the room, damp and uncomfortable.

Best of all: By using P. & G. Naphtha Soap, they are able to do as much work in a morning as used to take a whole day.

Will Leave for Camp.

The various companies of the 4th Regiment, O. N. G., will mobilize in Newark tonight at the B. & O. depot, and will leave at 8:30 o'clock on a special train for Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., where the big encampment of United States regulars and National Guards is being held.

Are Hard Kickers.

There are plenty of people who refuse to furnish the papers with the real facts when accidents or incidents occur, and this same class is the first to kick the hardest when the newspapers make a mistake or two in describing these same events. Man is a curious animal, however one takes him.

Postoffice Report.

The Newark postoffice's monthly report for August is as follows: Derived from sale of stamps, $2845.50; stamp envelopes, $587.39; postal cards, $200.50; stamp books, $167.22; total, $4100.61, an increase of $209.09 over August of last year, and of $181.59 over last month.

Successful Fishermen.

Dr. H. L. Williams and Mr. Samuel Gallagher have returned from a ten days' outing at the sea shore. The gentlemen report having a fine time, and were very successful in sea fishing, and they showed the goods, for a large box of ice fish came to Newark during their stay at a fishing resort. The fish were distributed among their friends who were highly delighted.

Dogs Disappearing.

Recently quite a number of people have made complaint regarding the mysterious disappearance of their valuable dogs. "Spot," Holler says he is the owner of a fine beagle hound which went the same way. In this instance, however, certain parties were seen to pick up the animal at Crooks' curve, and Spot says that unless they return it at once they will be prosecuted.

Found Suit Case in Woods.

Fred Holtsberry of Hebron, brought to police headquarters last night, a suit case that he had found in the weeds along the track of the T. & O. C. railroad. It contained some clothing, water color paintings and drawing instruments, and some other minor articles. A letter addressed to J. Perry Ford and laundry marks of "J. P." were all that identified it. According to the letter, which contained recommendations, Ford at one time worked in Newark. The suit case probably fell from a passing train.

TAFT CHUMMY WITH THE PARTY BOSSES HE ONCE DENOUNCED

One reason why Mr. Taft went to Middle Bass is apparent now. Walter F. Brown, the Toledo boss associated with Cox, Guilbert, Bieser and Mr. Taft's brother, Charles P., has a cottage at Middle Bass, and is spending the summer there. Dispatches tell of his conferring with Mr. Taft, and keeping posted on each day's movements, also that he took Mr. Taft's private secretary in his launch to deliver an important telegram.

State Auditor Guilbert is to be at Middle Bass this week with others who are making "common enterprise" with Mr. Taft since he wiped the past off the slate in the presence of Cox of Cincinnati, the day before his notification.

This candidate for president is the same man who said in a speech at Akron three years ago what he would do, if he were at home to vote, to some of the bosses with whom he is now engaged in "common enterprise."

In his speech at St. Paul on Monday denouncing the unparalleled extravagance of the Republican administration of federal affairs, says The Philadelphia Record, Mr. Bryan opened a form of attack admitting neither of adequate nor plausible defense. The spending of the public revenues is as recklessly disregardful of the public interest as the methods of collection are scandalous in their favoritism and inequality. How much longer will the people tamely submit to be first robbed for the benefit of the Trusts and afterwards needlessly burdened to support the army of leeches and sinecurists who fattened upon the vast treasury surpluses that are needlessly filched from the earnings of labor?

REPUBLICAN PARTY AND ITS ALLY, THE PREDATORY TRUSTS

(Philadelphia Record.)
A very pretty pair of "friendly movers" are George R. Sheldon, treasurer of the Republican National Committee and corporation promoter, and Nelson Cromwell, attorney of the Panama Railroad company. Two persons better calculated to raise other people's money for a political campaign or for any other purpose would be hard to find. In answer to the report that Cromwell has sent in $50,000 for the Taft campaign Sheldon says the public will know all about it "after the election." What business, to be sure, have the American people to know who are pouring out a Pactolus stream of money to corrupt their elections for president and congress?

It was only through a legislative investigation of the New York life insurance companies that the lid was partially lifted and the country obtained a valid hint of the enormous sums of money that were levied to elect Roosevelt and a Republican majority to congress in 1904. When corruption shall have done its worst in this election Mr. Sheldon says he will tell upon whom he levied contributions for the campaign. What he will reveal will depend on the discretion of himself and his advisory committee, of which Nelson Cromwell is a member.

The fact is that he Republican cannot carry on a successful campaign for president and congress without lavish expenditures of money. Before the spoiliatory, monopolies were yet bred by the tariff United States Senator Preston B. Plumb, of Kansas, bitterly reproached the party managers with "frying the fat" out of the tariff beneficiaries to corrupt the elections. This was in the beginning of what has culminated in a great national scandal in the alliance of the Trust combinations that are preying upon the American people with the Republican party. The one could not flourish without the aid of the other. If the onconnection were not known of all men it might be called a conspiracy rather than an alliance against popular government. Of this unholy alliance George R. Sheldon and his associate on the Republican Advisory Committee are typical representatives. With the American people the supreme question now is whether the combination of the Republican party and the predatory Trusts shall prevail once more in this presidential election.

HARMON LED FIGHT FOR LAW AND ORDER

His Great Argument In Cincinnati Court Put a Stop to Prize Fight—How Democratic Candidate For Governor Stood by Governor Nash In the Enforcement of Law—Praised by Republican Paper.

Judge Harmon's devotion to law, order and right civil conduct was never better exemplified than in his voluntary aid in behalf of the good name and the honor of the state of Ohio, when more than all others, he upheld the hands of the late Governor Nash in preventing the Jeffries-Rhulin prize fight in 1901.

His action in that case was typical of the man and of his exalted ideals of public duty. Ohio's soil had never been desecrated by the grosser infamies of the prize ring. In this case of the state against the promoters of the Jeffries-Rhulin fight, to enjoin them from holding the contest, Judge Harmon, associated with other distinguished counsel, presented what all admitted was one of the most masterful arguments ever made by a lawyer in a case of the kind. His argument in that case still stands as a model of eloquence, logic and high moral conviction. It rings true to the man. Among other things he said:

"Gentlemen on the other side have lauded athletics, and so do I. But if athletics are to make men brutes and prize-fighters, it is time to call a halt upon them. If writing is to lead a man to forgery, he should not be taught to write. If reading is to turn his mind into a sewer, and his heart and soul into a receptacle for filth, instead of opening to him the way to higher aims and higher views of life, and of men and events, he should not be taught to read. If ladies are to be taught to dance, does it follow that they should attend concert hall and public dances? Let the gentlemen think of the point to which their eulogies of athletics are leading them and they will move more slowly."

"And they decry what they are pleased to call our resort to the 'extraordinary' remedy of calling in the aid of the state. But this is an extraordinary case, the like of which has never been reported in the books of law. A private nuisance is one which affects a private individual, while a public nuisance is the concern of no one in particular but of the public in general—that is, the state, and therefore we called in the aid of the state. . . . If a contempting smell affects the aesthetic nostrils of the gentlemen who promote prize fights and May festivals, the power of the state may be invoked, but when something comes to contaminate the purity of life, the good order, the decency of the city, these gentlemen cry aloud with one voice, and demand that the arm of the chancellor be stayed."

"These gentlemen say they want to hold this contest to pay off the saengerfest indebtedness. Was there ever a bank clerk or a collector who took the money of the bank or his employers who did not give the same excuse? He commits the crime because he needs the money, and the men to whom he should look for the staunch upholding of the law, band themselves together with a debased and debasing element because they, too, need the money to pay their debts. They have formed a criminal partnership for the purpose of paying off their indebtedness just as everybody who commits a crime offers as an excuse that he needed the money."

At this point Judge Harmon graphically described the train of evils that follow in the wake of a prize fight. Continuing, he said:

"The court must look to things that threaten to afflict society. Brady says if one of these two men should be killed he wouldn't feel as though his hands were bloody. I know this court would be unwilling to take upon its shoulders so dread a responsibility."

Answering the contention that to prevent the fight would work a financial hardship to the promoters of the match, Judge Harmon said: "Why limit the operations of the club to this one event? There are other debts than the debts of these gentlemen to pay. The debt on the Southern railroad is bothering the city somewhat. Why not keep up the drawing of these crowds and give prize fights and pay off the debt of the city for the Southern road?"

At this point Judge Harmon referred to the mob spirit and the martyrdom of Captain John J. Desmond, who fell before the rioters in 1884. Concluding, he said:

"Judge Peck has told us that we, too, may become martyrs if we do not pause in our efforts. . . . Very well I have lived too long and have taken too great a part in public and private affairs to be deterred by what threats may be made. I am not a hero, but if martyrdom in the line of duty is to come it will come at the hands of thugs brought here because of this contest, to be given to pay the debts of the promoters of the saengerfest and the prize fight."

Commenting on Judge Harmon's argument in this case the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune said: "A magnificent forensic effort," said Bettenger, during his argument of the speech of Judge Harmon for the state in the proceedings before Judge Hollister yesterday. And a magnificent forensic effort it was. Upon its conclusion the throng of friends and acquaintances in the court room, from the side of the promoters as well as from the side of the antis, crowded round Judge Harmon and paid him the tribute which was his due. His speech was filled with wit and pathos—forceful and dramatic and at all times covered with the evidence of genuine sincerity. Able as are the counsel engaged in the case on both sides they have conceded the place of precedence to his great argument, which was, in fact, an oration worthy of the issues involved, the presence in which it was delivered and of his high reputation as a lawyer."

HARMON'S STATURE.

Judson Harmon is so big and broad a man that no issue of inferior magnitude may attach to him. His character and reputation constitute a sufficient answer to any question that Governor Harris or any other Republican may ask of him. He is not identified with any class or interest and represents only the Democratic party.

WOULD TAKE TAFT'S ADVICE

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 25.—A recent dispatch to the Enquirer stated that friends here of J. Sherman Porter, managing editor of the Lexington Herald, and a Republican, were claiming that Porter intended to take the stump in Ohio for Bryan and Harmon. The following letter, from Porter is self-explanatory.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 24, 1908.

To the Editor of the Enquirer:
Your Louisville correspondent sent you a dispatch, which you published in Wednesday's Enquirer, stating that I would stump my home district in Ohio, the Tenth, for Bryan and Harmon, on the invitation of the Democratic state committee. Also, that I had quite a reputation as a Republican shouter.

Neither of these statements is true—yet I have never been a "Republican shouter." On the contrary, I have taken no part in speaking campaigns, but for the past four years have held my nose and voted the Republican ticket.

Now any friend of Senator Foraker can support either the state or national ticket in Ohio this year is beyond my understanding, and how any believer in good government can vote for the Cox-Karshner-Guilbert-Brown-Beiser aggregation, who have nominated themselves for state offices, I am unable to say.

I can say, as Secretary Taft said in 1905, "that if I were at home this fall I would vote the Democratic local ticket." I can say further, that if I were at home this fall I would vote the Democratic national ticket, and to wipe out completely the bogus civil service humbug of a machine that Theodore Roosevelt has used to carry out his personal usages and to keep in power a dynasty of officeholders, who have carried out his instructions, whether they violated the rules of civil service or not in doing so.

J. SHERMAN PORTER.

WHY MITCHELL IS FOR BRYAN

"In accordance with your invitation I wish to state that in my judgment the election of Bryan would be for the best interests of the whole nation."

"He stands on much the better platform and will be guided by it in the event of his election. Mr. Taft is handicapped by zealous advocacy of his cause by the predatory rich. Honest wealth and business have nothing to fear in Bryan's election."—John Mitchell to the New York World.

DEATHBED REPENTANCE.

CHAPTER

Of Incidents in Life of Durian Popovich Closed—Wife Captured in Pittsburg.

Mrs. Sophia Popovich has been found, and maybe her long suffering husband, Durian, will get his $730 back and maybe he won't, the chances being much in favor that he will be "shy" when his faithless spouse makes an accounting. How Popovich located his wife is a simple story and only goes to show that Dame Fortune will sometimes smile on a man after Miss Fortune has given him a very rotten deal.

Durian was strolling listlessly along a street in Pittsburg yesterday when he ran smack dab (whatever that is) into Milan Renic or Kranic, despoiler of his home, and the avowed lover of Sophia, the pretty young wife of Popovich, who hit the cushions for far distant climes with $730 of her hubby's money, and the intention of meeting the other fellow.

When the husband saw his erstwhile friend and the alleged lover of his wife, he let out a yell that would have done credit to a spicifer for a medicine show, then he grabbed. His grab gave him an armful of Renic or Kranic, and then he yelled for the police. The cops came on the run and locked both men up, and later the wife was also taken into custody. She will probably be brought to Newark for trial, unless matters can be squared with her husband.

FURTHER DELAY IN COMPLETING CITY WATER WORKS PLANT

An effort was made by the Board of Public Service, Monday, to have the new municipal water works plant turned over to the city to run pending the receipt of the official report on the final tests from Engineer Hitchcock, of O. S. U. The object of this move was to save the city the cost of hydrant rental, but investigation showed that the Platt Iron Works would require such an expenditure of money on the part of the city to do this that the cost of running the plant before the final report was turned over and the plant accepted, would exceed the present hydrant rental.

It will be remembered that a week ago last Saturday, when Engineer Hitchcock left for Columbus, after the final tests had been made on the pumping station, President Taylor, of the B. P. S., endeavored to get some knowledge of the possible time when a report would be forthcoming. Engineer Hitchcock stated that he was very much occupied with matters preceding the local case, and that he could not name any definite time for sending in his report.

With a view to saving the city the money expended for hydrant rental in the meantime, and to insure proper fire protection, the board attempted to make an arrangement with the Platt Iron Works whereby the city could run the plant. The company communicated with the board on the subject to the effect that they would be willing to let the city run the plant for a stated length of time—the time to be designated by the Platt Iron Works—provided the city pay the engineers of the company to do the work. This would involve a cost reaching a figure of approximately $25 or $30 per day, an amount greatly in excess of the present hydrant rental.

The board has not decided to accept the proposition.

One matter that is still hanging fire with the board is the dissatisfaction with the condensers now in use on the pumps. As they now stand, the present condensers will supply the proper vacuum necessary, but in order to do this such a rapid piston action is required that it is feared the machinery and valves will be over-worked in a very short time.

Some time ago Mr. Taylor, of the board, held a consultation with the Platt Iron Works men here, who agreed with him that a crank and fly wheel connection should be substituted for the present system, and in accordance with this recommendation, it is understood, the company began the construction of such machinery. Now, the company is endeavoring to make the present condenser do the work, and, according to Mr. Taylor's statement Wednesday, the city will not accept them, unless they show the required duty.

The official report of Mr. Hitchcock may cover this point. However, even if his report should favor the present condensers, it is probable that the board will stand firm in its demand for the completion and installation of the crank and fly wheel mechanism now in process of construction in the Platt Iron Works shops at Dayton.

All this is another chapter in the delay from which the city has suffered in the construction of the municipal water plant. The pumps were promised to be finished nearly a year ago. Why such delay is unaccountable. It will be remembered that the style of the pumps was wholly changed from those specified in the original contract. And now it seems other changes are still necessary. The question is who is at fault for this? Were proper and sufficient details specified by the city's consulting engineer when the changes were made in the style of the pumps?

AMUSEMENTS

Although the weather was bad, a large and appreciative audience attended the Auditorium theater last evening and enjoyed the motion pictures, vaudeville and illustrated songs.

Walter E. Pearce, the extra attraction, is recognized as one of the leading comedians upon the American stage. This monologue is up to date and would make a pessimist laugh. His songs were received with well merited applause and his jokes and funny sayings with uproars of laughter.

It has been truly said that he is the best cure for blues that can be found in this or any other city.

Tomorrow night the pictures will be entirely changed, and will be better than ever, as the management has been able to secure some of the very latest films. Mr. Pearce will change his act, emerging from the black face to the eccentric.

"Vogel made an assent as he remarked: "It was not always thus; it is a matter of fact that in 1868 a popular Ethiopian comedian sold his horse and buggy and put troupe of fourteen people on the road with the proceeds and fairly astonished the natives."

THE PASSING OF A NOBLE WOMAN

With the passing of Mrs. Sylvia Morton Miller, widow of the late Jas. Miller, and aged mother of Hon. W. E. Miller, of this city, is closed the life of one of Newark's noblest and most estimable Christian women. During all her long life this admirable woman endeavored to fill to the utmost of her ability the duties of a wife, mother and friend. She was a ministering angel in sickness and many living in Newark have cause to remember her administrations and tender care. During the cholera scourge away back in 1854, when hundreds of people succumbed to the ravages of the disease, Mrs. Miller gave freely of her time and services, fearlessly going among the plague-stricken people, nursing and caring for them in her gentle, kindly way, that won the hearts and thanks of all. Another little instance in the life of Mrs. Miller that serves to illustrate her kinder nature and nobility of heart, was on the occasion when W. W. Rowlands, engineer in the Newark fire department, was killed in 1882. Mr. Rowland was on duty on the old chemical extinguisher, and while crossing the Sixth street railroad crossing, was struck by a Pan-Handle yard engine. The extinguisher was overturned and Mr. Rowland was thrown beneath the wheels of the engine, which passed over and cut off one of his legs and otherwise injured him. He died from the effects of his injuries on Saturday, August 5, 1882. At the time of the accident, as Mr. Rowland lay on the ground, bleeding from his wounds, Mrs. Miller was among the first to reach his side and administer to his comfort by binding up his wounds and caring for him. Her gentle hands, did much to alleviate the pain and sufferings of the injured man in his last hours. Such actions as these were characteristic of the deceased, and her name will be revered by many for a long time to come.

Marion, O. Sept. 2.—Jimmie Lucas was the big noise in a double naught flinging bee that was pulled off at Marion Tuesday afternoon, and the Molders were the victims. Jeems had read with envy of the work of one Homer Mock, one "Red" White (whose picture appears every day in the Lancaster Eagle or the Gazette) in shutting the Newark team out without a hit, and he vowed many solemn vows that some day he would turn the trick. And he did.

The Newark team came to Marion bound to repeat their many previous performances and cop all the games of the series, for they had waxed fat off of Portsmouth but Jeems was the stumbling block of mammoth proportions, and they never even rapped out a scratch single in the full nine innings that they played. Besides that Lucas was given good support and he pulled the game over to the Marion side by the score 2 to 0.

Webb, who had always been a Jonah of large size for the Diggers, was slated for the slinging for the visitors, and he flung nice ball, only six hits being secured off him. His support, too, was gratifying but the team could not hit behind him, and as Lucas didn't issue many passes, and as his support was such that the visitors didn't reach on errors, the game was Marion's from the start.

Just because it was a shutout, and the callers didn't hit the readers don't want to get the idea that the game was slow, for it wasn't, not a bit of it. Both squads worked hard and the result was the game was the fastest seen on the local grounds this year. The fans have been accustomed to seeing fast ball this year, but some of the plays were such that the hardened fans were forced to applaud both the home team and the visitors alike.

Two more games are to be played here this year by the Newark team, and as the Licking county team has always put up a "jar" article of ball, the games will probably be well attended.

LIMA TAKES OPENER.
Lima, Sept. 2.—Lima took the opening game of the series from the leaders Tuesday in a contest that was replete with sensational fielding. Linke pitched a great game for the locals and would have had a shutout to his credit had it not been for the poor judgment in retiring the second man in the ninth at first instead of the plate. Score: R. H. E.
Lancaster . . . 000000001—1 3 1
Lima . . . 000002300—5 11 0
Batteries: Mock and Piper; Linke and Nefeau.

OVERCONFIDENCE COSTLY.
Mansfield, Sept. 2.—Mansfield could only secure an even break with Portsmouth in a double-header Tuesday. Overconfidence cost Mansfield the first game and a rally came too late. Bailey pitched great ball in the second game, while Shine was batted opportunistly.

BIG LEAGUE

Draft Touches Ohio State League and Four Players Go Into Higher Company.

National commission rules take four Ohio State league players from the class A teams, to which they were sold some time ago, and place them in the possession of major teams. Those affected are: Pitcher White of Lancaster; Pitcher Justus of Lancaster; Outfielder Tate of Marion, and Outfielder Channell of Mansfield.
White goes to the Chicago Nationals and Justus to the St. Louis team of the same league. The Cubs also grabbed Channell, while Pittsburgh picked up Hugh Tate.

It has been presumed that the three players first mentioned were the bona fide property of the Columbus club and that Tate belonged to Atlanta. Papers in all the cases had passed through the hands of Secretary Farrell of the National association and vouchers had been approved by that official.

JUSTUS BETTER

Marion, Sept. 2.—Walter Justus, Lancaster pitcher, who has been at a local hospital for the past two days, is much improved and will be able to pitch before the last of the week.
The Lancaster team left yesterday for Lima with but three pitchers, who have agreed to do all of the slugging work for the club for the remainder of the season, so that Justus will not be so in and out of his life.
Justus has pitched more games than any twirler in the league and is deserving of a rest with full pay. He will probably head his physician's advice and quit baseball.

WERE BANQUETED

Star of Base entertained the Old Homestead baseball team last night at a banquet. The team, which has had a highly successful season, The Old Homestead would like to arrange a banquet for the team and the players and their families on the 11th of the month.

carriage and precipitated the occupants into the road.
Mrs. Wintermute sustained a number of very severe and painful bruises and was possibly the most severely injured. Mrs. Fulton sustained a badly bruised right shoulder, but succeeded in protecting her child so that the little one escaped uninjured. The ladies were rendered prompt aid by Col. Crawford's men, who brought them to the Fulton home on West Church street, corner of Sixth. Dr. A. T. Speer was summoned and after an examination stated that he believed Mrs. Wintermute to be the most injured, but found no broken bones.
The horse ran a short distance after the overturning of the carriage, one of the wheels catching in a fence. The animal was taken into the Col. Crawford stables. The buggy was badly damaged.

"The Yankee Princess"

Has been said to be the most celebrated coat in America. You can see it here. It's beautiful lines, it's absolutely perfect fit, it's superior tailoring and the quality of its material all combined to make a pleasing effect. It's cut is entirely new this season, and we are now showing it. We have ordered it early so you can be one of the first to wear it. Step in our cloak department and see it.

"The New Suits"

In a beautiful range are now on display. With an unusually strong line to show in, prices from $15.00 to $25.00 we have surprised our customers who have already seen them. Several have said "the suits are so much cheaper this year," add so they are. Come in early—Suits sell early and the lines of suits are always at their best early in the season.

MARRIAGE SOLEMNIZED

PRETTY GRANVILLE WEDDING AT WHICH FATHER OF GROOM OFFICIATES.

Miss Mabel Alice Butterfield Weds a Theological Student of St. Paris, Ohio.

Granville, O., Sept. 2.—The marriage of Miss Mabel Alice Butterfield and Mr. Charles Franklin Matthews was solemnized at the home of the bride's mother in this place, on Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, in the presence of about 50 invited guests and relatives.

At the hour appointed the wedding party entered the living room to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, played with unusual sweetness by Miss Helen Williams, Dr. C. J. Baldwin, pastor of the First Baptist church of Granville, and Rev. N. Y. Matthews, of St. Paris, O., father of the groom, were the first to enter, and were followed by the groom and the best man, Mr. John Churney, of Rochester, N. Y., a former student of Denison and Rochester seminaries. Miss Anna Rhoades, the maid of honor, gowned in pale blue silk mull and carrying delicate pink roses, preceded the bride, who entered last upon the arm of her mother. As the bride entered the room she was met by the groom and together they took their places before the charming background of green beech leaves and white vine clematis, which had been artistically arranged in the north-west corner of the room. The ring service, chosen especially, and arranged by the groom, was unusually beautiful and impressive and was performed by the Rev. Mr. Matthews, assisted by Dr. C. J. Baldwin. The bride was radiantly charming in a princess gown of soft cream tulle, elaborately trimmed in cream lace and the filmy veil was gracefully caught up and crowned with a coronet of orange blossom. A lovely diamond and pearl brooch, the gift of the groom, was worn by the bride, while her slippers were those worn by her mother at her own wedding and were of dainty and unique design.

At the conclusion of the ceremony and after congratulations had been showered on the happy couple, light refreshments were served the wedding party and guests in the dining room, which had been most prettily decorated in pink and white, the chosen color scheme. Ropes of smilax were draped from the chandelier to the sides of the table directly below, and in the center of the table a very artistic centerpiece of asparagus fern, pink asters and vine clematis was arranged. Two tiny pink and white hearts, tied with white ribbon, were given to the guests as favors upon their leaving the dining room. Funch was served in the parlor which was decorated in green and white, the mass of clematis covering the mantel being especially attractive.

As the bride left the guests and started up the stairway, she turned to throw her shower bouquet among the group of young girls below, then paused and dropped the roses over the shoulders of her mother, who stood nearest her, thus bestowing this last honor upon her.

The bride and groom received many beautiful gifts, particularly of silver, cut glass and linen. Mr. and Mrs. Matthews took their departure, followed by a shower of rice and old shoes, thrown after the cab for luck by the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Matthews will enjoy an eastern trip, after which they will make their home in Rochester, N. Y.

The bride, Miss Butterfield, is a daughter of Mrs. Philip B. Smith of Granville. She is a graduate of the Conservatory of Music of Denison university and of Shepardson college. She is well known in musical and social circles of the village, and has been actively engaged and interested in church and settlement work both here and in Chicago. The groom, the son of Rev. and Mrs. Matthews of St. Paris, O., is also a graduate of Denison university and is at present a student at Rochester Theological seminary, New York.

The out of town guests were the parents of the groom, Rev. and Mrs. Matthews, and Mary and G. E. Matthews, a sister and brother of the groom, Miss Mary Tuttle of Springfield, O.; Lina Wilks, of Washington C. H.; Mr. Orville Montgomery of Pataskala, and Mr. Jack Randall of Westerville.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE.

An exceedingly pleasant surprise was given in honor of Mr. Emmitt Scanlon Sunday, the occasion being his birthday anniversary, when about 35 of his friends and relatives gathered at his country home near Black Run. The day was spent in conversation and music furnished by Mr. Logan Priest, Mr. A. J. Demorest and Mr. Everett McArthur. At 1 o'clock all enjoyed an old fashioned picnic dinner which was served in the orchard.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Baughman, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Scanlon, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Heft, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Scanlon, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Toothman, Mrs. Philip Toothman, Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Scanlon, Ray Baughman, Ida Scanlon, Lela Heft, Orville Scanlon, Carl McArthur, Walter Toothman, Zora Heft, Logan Priest, Nellie McArthur, Lewis Heft, Edith Baughman, Bernard Claggett, Beatrice Scanlon, J. C. McArthur, William Scanlon, Inez Heft, Carl Scanlon, Arthur McArthur, A. J. Demorest, Ruth Scanlon, Nota Baughman, Mary Scanlon, J. O. Cochran, Bert Heft, Earl McArthur and Merrill Scanlon.

FRAMPTON.

Rev. Mr. Kemper will preach his farewell sermon at Goshen M. E. church Sunday at 2:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Patterson of Newark were guests at the home of Mr. Wm. Wright, last week.

OUTING AND BUSINESS TRIP

Two of Newark's best known German-American citizens and prominent business men left Tuesday evening on B. & O. No. 8 for an outing as well as a business trip, so far as it applies to their duties as delegates to the German societies of which both are honored members. We refer to William C. Vogelmeier and Peter Ritzer grocer and meat dealer, respectively. Their first stop will be in Washington, D. C., where they will attend the annual meeting of the Deutsches Unterstutzen Verein. At Baltimore, Md., they will be the guests of the Deutsches Krieger Verein, the Franco-Prussian Veteran association, of which Mr. Ritzer is a member. Upon their arrival at Philadelphia they will be met by the reception committee of the Starbe Veren, of which society both of these gentlemen have been life time members. Mr. Ernest Weil, the president of the society, will entertain them at his residence in Philadelphia. They expect to spend the latter part of September at the range of the New York Schutzen park on Long Island. We bespeak for the gentlemen a grand time and a safe return.

LICKING FARES WELL IN PRIZE DISTRIBUTION

At Ohio State Fair Tuesday—Cedar Camp Carries Off Honors—Live Stock Premiums.

Newark at the State fair? Well, if anyone doubts it let him watch the distribution of prizes and he'll soon be convinced that Newark and the rest of Licking county still cuts some figure at the annual Columbus doings.

Cedar Camp, M. W. of A., not only drew prizes all around, Tuesday, but Licking county live stock showed its value in a telling way. J. C. Shaw of Newark took every award in the Devon cattle class with his fine exhibit of healthy specimens. J. L. Axline and W. J. Tharp of Pataskala, captured the prizes in the exhibit of Berkshire swine. The prizes in this class were pretty well distributed among the Pataskala men and Kite and Yoder of DeGraff, O.

The annual field day of the Modern Woodmen of America helped to swell the crowd at the State fair Tuesday. There were in round numbers 1,000 of them. The feature was a competitive drill, which was participated in by the following teams: Ohio camp, Camp Chase camp of Columbus, Cedar camp of Newark, Middleport camp of Middleport, Star camp of New Philadelphia, Davis camp of Dayton, Portsmouth camp of Portsmouth, Canal Dover camp of Canal Dover and Chillicothe camp of Chillicothe. Captains White and McClellan and Lieut. Stone of the Columbus barracks, acted as judges. The first prizes were won as follows: First, Ohio camp, Columbus, $100; Cedar camp of Newark, second, $50; Camp Chase camp Columbus, third, $30; Middleport camp, Middleport, fourth, $20.

In the registration contest, Newark won the first prize of $30 and Chillicothe took second, a prize of $20. In the tug-of-war, Cedar camp of Newark took the first prize banner and Ohio camp of Columbus, second ban-

Good Teeth and A Good Reason

One good reason for good teeth is, they give you "good looks." The world has no time for a man or woman who can't put up a good appearance.

Ugly teeth, missing teeth or badly fitting false teeth are a worse handicap to beauty than irregular features or a bad skin.

Shal & Hill make the way to beauty easy. They have the largest, most completely equipped parlors and laboratory in Ohio. Shal & Hill's corps of dentists is the most efficient in Ohio. Shal & Hill's work is all guaranteed.

BUSINESS MEN

Will Take Up the Matter of Poor Equipment of Interurban Roads

The state railroad commission on Tuesday began an investigation of the accident Saturday evening on the Columbus and Buckeye Lake line of the Ohio Electric railway company, and inquirers were assured that a full investigation would be made.

As there have been a number of traction accidents this year, the business men are becoming vitally interested in seeing that these roads are operated safely. Columbus business men say that after the accident of Saturday night they found many of their customers who declared that they would not come into the city on the traction line to do their shopping as they were afraid of an accident.

The merchants are taking the matter up and will see that any roads which are not kept in good condition, with equipment in repair, are called to time. Loss of traffic to the interurban lines means also a loss of business to the retail merchants.—W. B. Jackson in Ohio State Journal.
